Subject: Proposal for Workshop on How to Publish Scholarly Books & Open Access with Taylor & Francis

Dear Ma'am,

Greetings from Taylor & Francis Group!

We are writing on behalf of Taylor & Francis Group, which is a leading global scholarly publisher. Taylor & Francis publishes around 7,000 new books each year and maintains a books backlist of over 160,000 titles. We curate high-quality peer-reviewed research from leading experts in specialisms across Science, Technology & Medicine and Humanities & Social Sciences. We have a range of highly regarded imprints, including Routledge, CRC Press, F1000, Taylor & Francis and Dove Medical Press.

We would like to propose an exclusive workshop, in collaboration with Allama Iqbal Library, on "How to Publish Scholarly Books & Open Access with Taylor & Francis". The session would offer a glimpse into different processes involved in writing a book with a global publisher including formulating book proposals, timelines, copyrights, royalties, and other important factors. It will also touch on publishing ethics and Open Access. It would be useful to all professionals, faculty, researchers, and scientists who need a comprehensive understanding of research publication and the various forms in which it can be published.

We request your office to kindly provide us a suitable date and time to conduct the workshop soon.

Do let us know in case you have any queries or feedback regarding this.

Best regards,

Gopinath
